Residents, politicians rally around steel

At right, Jim Squires, Granite City Steel plant manager and recently promoted senior vice president of National Steel Corp., tells a gathering at Granite City Steel how the foreign steel issue affects everything surrounding the steel industry. Above, this chart shows how the level of employment in the U.S. steel industry has dropped because of foreign steel imports.

Stand up for steel! Thousands of residents and steel workers joined union, company and political leaders Tuesday evening at Granite City Steel to send that loud message to Washington.

A national coalition of producers and unions has roused the steel industry against the dumping of foreign steel on American markets. If left unchecked, this unfair trade practice will drive the American industry out of business, officials from the coalition said.

Jim Squires, vice president and plant manager for Granite City Steel; Walt Jones, United Steelworkers local 30 vice president; Granite City Mayor Ron Selph; Madison Mayor John Hamm III; State Rep. Tom Holbrook; and U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello were among the thousands who signed a pledge to be sent to Washington.

By signing the pledge, people indicate that although they understand foreign nations are in crisis, American industry should not be sacrificed. Stand Up For Steel supporters want the dumping of steel stopped immediately.

"This rally is not just for the Democratic Party or the Republican Party. This is not just a union issue or a company issue. This is an issue of survival for the steel industry and the communities it supports," Jones said.

The American steel industry produces 106 million tons of steel a year. As of July, foreign imports were at 48 million tons a year. Imported steel often sells at $100 less a ton than local products.

"The surge of steel imports is crippling the American steel

List shortens

Five local schools removed from academic scrutiny

METRO EAST SCHOOLS

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Five of six local schools named to the Illinois State Board of Education's Academic Early Warning List last year have improved enough to be removed from the list this year.

Lovejoy Elementary, Lovejoy High School and Lovejoy Junior High School, all in Brooklyn; Venice High School; and Madison Middle School were all taken off the list.

Madison High School remains on the list but was within less than a percentage point of being removed.

"We have much to celebrate with this year's Academic Early Warning List due to the increased focus on improving children's achievement throughout the state," said Interim State Superintendent of Education Robert Mandeville. "Credit must go to local educators, parents, students and entire communities for supporting this progress."

When the list was first announced last year, many local educators objected when their schools were portrayed as the "worst" schools in the state based on test results.

They pointed out that two of the biggest indicators of low test scores — poverty level and mobility, the number of students who will either leave or transfer into a classroom in a given year — were extremely high. In most of the Metro East schools named to the watch list last year, the poverty rates approached 90 percent.

City annexes 1,500 acres of AmerenUE land

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Granite City brought 1,500 acres of AmerenUE property into the city Tuesday night, and city officials see a host of possibilities for it.

Dan Brown, the city's economic Parcel holds several possibilities, Brown says development director, said anything was possible for the land, but AmerenUE would undoubtedly want tenants that use a lot of electricity. Brown mentioned there was a small possibility that the Walt Disney Co. may have an interest in the land. AmerenUE, when it was still Union Electric Co., petitioned Granite City last summer for annexation. The power utility had objected to Mitchell's original incorporation plan, which included the company's 1,500 acres.

AmerenUE wanted to become part of a settled, stable government.

Views of French need revisiting

Sorry for the week's interruption, result of a necessary and unexpected engagement, but that's life. Some quickie commentary on a recent visit with friends in France. Not a first trip, but in view of our age—probably a last one.

I've always felt the French have taken a bad rap in this country and continue to believe that.

"They're so rude, so unfriendly" seems to be an American consensus. I'd argue that view. In my personal experience, the closest I've come to that attitude was several years ago when a clerk in Parisian department store buffed her nails and chatted with a fellow employee while I waited for service. What's the difference between this young woman and her counterpart in our department stores?

One of the pleasures of this year's visit was renewing acquaintance with friends and neighbors of Sami and Liz Dorra, both in Paris and in western France, where their renovated farmhouse is located.

Sadly, Louis Penalosa, one of the more charming and funny men I've ever met, died since my last visit, but we visited briefly with his widow, Giselle, in Albi and had an English couple, George and Stella Wright, up for drinks one Sunday.

Had a Sunday dinner with the Cornu family, whose farm is down the valley from the Dorra house. Since I last saw them Michel and Yvonne celebrated a 50th wedding anniversary. Michel retired from farming, renovated a couple of farm houses he now rents out to (chiefly) English and Canadian tourists and is mayor of Moutzels, the nearby village.

Gerard, the Cornu son, was home for the weekend, a sister-in-law and niece dropped by, and Yvonne's 94-year-old mother, who is stone-deaf, lamented loudly (and frequently) that all of us needed to

"speak up." "I don't think so. Equally applicable to Parisians ranging from family (Sami's niece, Nicole, who owns the most gorgeous apartment I've ever seen), friend Elsa and her Toronto guests with whom we spent an evening, the Dorra's next-door-neighbors and, of course, son Francis and his wife, Maryse, and their two young children, Alexi and Camille, who could hardly wait to impress me with their command of English. Even the neighborhood Tabac shop owner.

Aside from the people themselves, there are things to do and places to visit. I don't seem to tire of Parisian public gardens, the D'Orsay museum (a day is simply not enough), Montmartre (which never seems to lose its carnival atmosphere) and buying one's wine and honey where they're actually produced rather than a liquor or grocery store.

Then there's French food in general. To my mind, superlative—especially breads and cheeses. Cantal and especially Roquefort, which reminds one of what Roquefort really should taste like. Rural France is a pleasure to a couple of us.

Naturally, there are things of which I'm not at all fond. I greatly admire public transportation, mostly particularly the Metro, but it seems to me motor scooters on the streets of Paris are proliferating at an ungodly rate. Breeding like (See CAROL, Page 3A)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Be smart when voting for governor

TO THE EDITOR:

The election for governor is upon us and we will shortly elect a man who will be responsible for the vast and powerful state government of Illinois. This is a government that has the capacity to affect citizens' lives for good or ill.

Unfortunately, it is also a government that always retains the potential to reward the insiders who take advantage of state power for power or gain. When these rewards become evident to the citizens, the confidence in their government is corroded by anger, cynicism and resentment. This conduct is rightly seen as unjust and criminal.

It is our responsibility, as citizens, to elect a governor who has shown by his record that he is up to the task of resisting the constant pressure to use the state of Illinois for private gain.

We must look beyond the TV sound bites, which characterize a candidate's votes on one or another issue. Sure, we consider these votes but understand that our legislative system encourages occasional compromises. These legislative votes do not necessarily define a career.

Did, for example, Harry Truman's Senate votes predict his later presidency? Or did Franklin Roosevelt's term as governor of New York or Ronald Reagan's term as governor of California serve as any indication of their later careers in not? Their policies, before becoming president, reflected very local concerns, concerns which frequently were only popular with their local voters. But their basic integrity and interest in pursuing the common good were evident from the beginning.

Therefore, we should look to that characteristic which most defines a candidate in the past, while not forgetting that a man or woman with the right attitude and ability can grow in office. Again, in Harry Truman, we find that his Senate career was marked by intelligence, strict decorum and uncompromised honesty. Although we might not have agreed with all of his votes, we cannot reasonably doubt his integrity and commitment to the common good.

Intelligence, decorum and honesty remain the hallmarks of those leaders most esteemed in our time. If you once forfeit the confidence of your fellow citizens, Lincoln remarked, you can never regain their respect and esteem. It is true that you can fool all of the people some of the time. But you can't fool all of the people all of the time. (from a speech at Clinton, Ill., Sept. 8, 1858)

Congressman Glenn Poshard is a man known for uncompromising honesty. Glenn began his public service in the U.S. Army. He has been a legislator who never ducks a tough vote but who is unfailingly and courageous at the service of his constituents. His career has been marked by a concern for the common good, not the desires of people who want to become rich by using the power of the state or national government.

Let us return to those values that define us as a people. Let us cast our vote and thereby entrust our state to a candidate who actually believes in these values, a candidate who has the moral courage and fortitude to stand and resist any efforts to use the state for private gain.

Honesty and strength of character, as well as demonstrated competence, should be our primary considerations as we vote this Tuesday, Nov. 3. Let us cast our vote for Glenn Poshard, who has never "once forfeited the confidence of his fellow citizens."

Family backing Von Nida for clerk

TO THE EDITOR:

All of us who are Madison County voters will have a number of choices to make in the Nov. 3 election. One choice I urge everyone to make is to vote for Mark Von Nida for County Clerk.

First, I need to identify myself. I'm Mark's father-in-law, so if you think I'm biased in his favor, because he is part of our family, you are 100 percent right!

There are, however, very good reasons for all of us to support him. He has an extensive background that makes him very qualified for the job of County Clerk, a position which he has held since May 1997, when he was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of Debbie Salich, who tragically died in April of that year.

Before that, he spent eight years as legal administrator to State's Attorney Bill Haine. Previous to that, he was the coordinator for Project Vote, a non-partisan, non-profit organization that registered voters throughout Madison County. He spent four years in the Navy and earned a degree from SIUE. Since the appointment as County Clerk, he has faithfully and efficiently carried out the duties of that office. He has made the needs of the people who seek the services of his office a top priority. He has streamlined check-in procedures at polling places to make voting much quicker and more voter-friendly.

When he is elected in November, he will continue to make his office even more user-friendly for county residents. He intends to use technology to make voting more convenient for voters and election judges.

Already, he has shown he will go out of his way to be of service. Once, he went to his office late at night to get a copy of a marriage license for a Madison County resident who was having some "red tape" problems with the Chinese authorities while in that country. He got it to the resident's lawyer, who faxed it to China, thus solving that problem.

Family values? If you're like I am, you've had it up to the top of your head with politicians trumpeting, grunting, squealing and crowing about their "family values."

Mark does not need to shout about these values. He lives them. When he's not working or attending functions for his job, he's taking his two young sons (our grandsons) to and from school and church and spending time with them and his wife (our daughter). Since she also works, he often is the baby sitter and meal preparer. He also spends time taking his father, who has cancer, to doctors' appointments and to the hospital for treatment. Mark has been part of our family since he married our daughter nearly 10 years ago. For him, family has always been No. 1.

Certainly, I could go on, but I think you voters have the idea. I would urge everyone to vote for Mark Von Nida for Madison County Clerk. You'll be glad you did.

LARRY BROWN

Senators have shown poor judgment

TO THE EDITOR:

In reply to the writer last week who gave us two weak reasons to vote for Carol Moseley-Braun, allow me to present the viewpoint from those who have studied (current voting records) of Moseley-Braun and Richard Durbin, our distinguished senators.

Here are 10 ways she, and Durbin as well, have demonstrated by their voting record this year they do not stand up for values important to American families:

1. Both are in favor of partial birth abortion (a hideous procedure).
2. Both are in favor of taxpayer funding of abortion as foreign aid.
3. Both are in favor of fetal tissue research.
4. They have voted currently against education savings accounts.
5. They are for continuing block grants to schools we taxpayers pay for rather than local control over schools, etc. Example: Goals 2000 mandated by government.
6. They are for funding federal testing (of our money).
7. They are not for protecting school age crime victims.
8. They would not want to protect the publicizing of voter guides and scorecards. I ask: Why do they not want the public to know how they have voted?
9. They are for continued tax funds for pornography.
10. Both supported David Satcher for U.S. surgeon general. He's a strong believer in giving schools condoms for children.

In my view their re-election will give us more taxes, more government control resulting in diminished freedom over our schools, businesses and personal lives. Is this what we want?

My vote is for Mr. Fitzgerald. He's a man of integrity.

Vote could keep 2 servants in office

TO THE EDITOR:

I recently wrote a letter endorsing Wes Tucker for Madison County Treasurer. Wes currently is the chief deputy treasurer in my office. He has done an outstanding job. When Congressman John Shimkus hired Wes Tucker as chief deputy, he hired a dedicated public servant.

Wes Tucker was responsible for many improvements in the county treasurer's office. His knowledge of making investments for the treasurer's office has earned the county more than $21 million dollars in interest income over the past eight years. He deserves to be elected county treasurer.

I have also known Fred Bathon for a number of years. Fred has done a fine job as Madison County auditor for the past 10 years. As treasurer, I have developed a unique working relationship with him.

Bathon has been a good auditor. Wes Tucker has been a good deputy in the treasurer's office. Let's keep two good people working for Madison County.

On Tuesday, Nov. 3, I urge you to vote for Wes Tucker for county treasurer. Let's keep Fred Bathon as county auditor. It's a win-win situation!

Dumped steel bringing down industry, leaders warn

TIM STEPHENSON / Press-Record

Many people showed up for the steel rally Tuesday.

Price blames Costello for downturn

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

While supporters of steel were rallying at Granite City Steel Tuesday, Republican Bill Price, candidate for the 12th District in Congress, charged that U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello failed to use his position to help the troubled industry.

Price said that Costello, although a member of the Congressional Steel Caucus, only made two formal attempts to pass legislation dealing with the problem. The first attempt died in the House Ways and Means Committee in 1992.

"Foreign dumping on the U.S. steel market has continued, with steel prices falling below production costs, this industry is sliding toward extinction," Price said in a written statement.

"Once again, Mr. Costello talks the talk but failed to get the job done," Price said. "My opponent has failed to protect working families."

In September of this year, Price said, Costello finally took action as a co-sponsor of an identical bill that succeeded in passing the House.

Price charged that Costello blames the Republican Party, which controls Congress, with the inability to pass needed legislation.

If Costello had been proactive, Price said, then perhaps Laclede Steel and Granite City Steel would not be "staggering from the heavy blows the companies sustained from foreign dumping."

Costello answered Price's attacks in his speech at the rally Tuesday by reminding people how hard he fought against the North American Free Trade Agreement and renewing Fast Track authority for the president.

"As long as I am in the United States Congress representing you, I guarantee you that steel in Granite City and in this nation will have a strong voice in the United States Congress," he said.

He also relayed information that he and the other members of the Steel Caucus would meet immediately with President Bill Clinton to work out a solution.

Layoffs, closings show domestic woes

By Scott Kelly
Staff writer

Imported steel from Russia and Asia has started to bring down the American steel industry, local and national leaders say.

As a result of dumped imported steel and subsidized imports, the domestic industry's operating profit fell by 50 percent in the first half of this year, according to statistics from the Stand Up For Steel Coalition.

Domestic employment is 62 percent lower today than in 1980 largely due to foreign steel, members of the coalition say, even though the industry has restructured and modernized in the past two decades.

National Steel, Granite City Steel's parent company, recently closed down a blast furnace at the Great Lakes Division for an indefinite time. A National representative said the decision was based on the current market situation, and in particular, foreign imports.

Granite City Steel laid off just under two dozen employees last week. Laclede Steel in Alton, which has already laid off workers, may even close.

Other examples include Acme Steel of South Chicago placing itself and five subsidiaries under Chapter 13 bankruptcy protection and U.S. Steel shutting a blast furnace recently.

industry," Squires said. "Companies with faltering economies are dumping their steel and selling it below the cost of production. Prices have plummeted to unrealistic lows."

"It is very difficult to compete against people who are selling steel ... that is produced by people making $3 to $5 an hour," he said. "It will not only destroy our industry, but also force enterprises to close."

"It's projected that in the third quarter, steel imports will enter this country at 52 million tons per year, equivalent to 43 percent share of the total U.S. steel consumed," he said.

Squires said he had been on the road recently visiting steel consumers and asking them to stick with American companies. He also said Granite City Steel had to lay off some employees recently, but the plant would keep layoffs to a minimum.

"We're here to tell the legislators, the commerce department and the people in control of this country that it has got to stop. And they better be watching us, they better be listening to us," Squires said.

at the Gary (Ind.) Works and laying off 100 workers in Pennsylvania.

Tuesday's rally at Granite City Steel was one of several similar protests being held around the nation. The Kansas City United Steelworkers Local 13 held a rally Oct. 26 in that city.

The nationwide Stand Up For Steel campaign began on Labor Day with a briefing to the Congressional Steel Caucus and ends on Election Day, but supporters will continue to press national policy-makers until the foreign dumping stops, they say.

Chief among the supporters is the Steel Caucus, of which U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello is a member. Costello pledged Tuesday to keep fighting for American steel and said he was seeking a meeting with President Bill Clinton to hammer out a solution.

Although Congress recently passed a watered-down resolution against foreign steel, Costello said he wants an immediate solution.

"If, in fact, we can prove that (countries) are violating trade measures that are in existence to bar those countries from importing steel to the United States for at least one year," he said recently.

Twelve steel companies — including National, Bethlehem Steel Corp., LTV Steel Co. and USX Corp. — filed cases on we are deeply concerned about the American steel industry. World-wide economic crisis has put us in a position to devastate the industry, it's hard work.

Over the last 15 years the American steel workers and their union have made tremendous progress together they have created a strong and productive steel industry in the world.

While we understand the need to aid for do so by sacrificing financial and social their communities and their governments and companies must be all necessary means.

Our industries can compete and today's world economy, but only ensure a fair global.

TIM STEPHENSON / Press-Record

Various local, state and national politicians and union and company leaders signed this oversized pledge card to be delivered to Washington.

Sept. 30 with the U.S. government against dumped and subsidized steel from Asia, Russia and Brazil.

The petitions document the rise in the market share of unfairly imported steel and the 81 percent increase in 1998 of imported steel.

"This crisis threatens the steel industry in this country and in this community. It threatens this plant, it threatens all of our workers, our families, our friends and everyone in our communities."

Jerry Costello

toning to us," Squires said. Track legislation, which would give the president authority to negotiate trade deals without going through Congress.

Costello got the loudest cheers from the crowd as he reiterated the problems of foreign steel and related what was being done in Congress. Costello said the House recently passed what turned into watered-down legislation against dumped steel.

However, he pledged to continue fighting against this and other unfair trade practices. He said he was demanding why I fought so hard to defeat NAFTA?" Costello asked, saying the same thing about Fast Track legislation, which would give the president authority to negotiate trade deals without going through Congress. "This crisis threatens the steel industry in this country and in this community. It threatens this plant, it threatens all of our workers, our families, our friends and everyone in our communities," he said.

Costello said he and other members of the Congressional Steel Caucus, plus George Becker, international president of the United Steelworkers of America, are demanding an immediate meeting with President Bill Clinton to work out an agreement on the issue.

"I have every reason to believe that within the next week when the president can clear his schedule that he will meet with those of us in the Steel Caucus ... to address this issue," he said. "Clinton has already ordered the Department of Commerce to expedite complaints filed by management, unions and industry against foreign companies."

Costello urged the crowd that when sending letters to the president, also write Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich and Senate Majority Leader Trent Lott that jobs and a whole industry are threatened.

The assembled union leaders, management and politicians themselves signed their names to an oversized pledge.

Selph and Hamm read proclamations from their respective cities that said city officials would do everything in their power to stop the unfair trade. Representatives for Sens. Dick Durbin and Carol Moseley Braun read a letter those members sent to President Clinton.

Granite City Steel also gave out 5,000 Stand Up For Steel T-shirts to those who signed the pledge.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a woman who had been involved in an automobile accident came to this office for advice. She indicated that a car coming from the opposite direction had crossed the center line and forced her off the side of the road. When she swerved her vehicle to avoid an accident, she struck a parked car on the side of the highway. Both drivers sustained injuries.

At the accident scene, she indicated to an independent witness that the other driver had crossed the median. She went on to state, however, that perhaps she too had been partially at fault in that she was driving at an excessive rate of speed. Neither driver called the police department to have an accident report prepared. The woman declined medical attention at the accident scene, and in fact waited several months before she contacted a doctor regarding her neck and back injuries.

The woman in this case made three crucial mistakes in the handling of this matter. In the first place, a person involved in an automobile accident should never make statements regarding possible liability at the accident scene. Furthermore, an injured party should never give a recorded statement to an insurance company without an attorney present. Illinois is a comparative negligence state, and a person's award of damages will be reduced based on the percentage of fault attributed to him. Furthermore, people often make statements at the scene of the accident when they are injured, excited, or not thinking clearly. It is best to say nothing in these situations.

The second mistake was in her failure to have a police report made. Without a police report, it is her word against the other driver's as to how the accident occurred. Often a policeman can diagram and document how the accident occurred based on the position of the vehicles, even though he did not witness the accident. A policeman can also issue tickets at the scene of the accident.

Finally, the woman in our example should never have waited months for medical treatment. She was hurt badly in the accident, but she always felt she was to busy to see a doctor. It is difficult to convince a jury that there is a legitimate injury here when she was lax about seeing a physician.

Of those, only one remained on the list from last year — East St. Louis Senior High School. Lucas Elementary School was added.

Seven East St. Louis schools were taken off the list. Robinson Elementary School, Harding Elementary School, Lansdown Junior High School, Lilly Freeman Elementary School and Manners Elementary School showed enough improvement to be taken off the list, while Hughes-Quinn Rock Junior High School and Lincoln High School closed. Schools meeting the criteria for the warning list are eligible for special assistance from the State Board. To be named to the list, a school must have more than 50 percent of its students in the

"does not meet" category on all Illinois Goals Assessment Program tests for two years, or those test scores must show a significant decline over three years. The IGAP scores also are used to produce the annual school report cards issued by local school districts.

Schools can be removed from the list when more than 50 percent of the students meet or exceed state standards on IGAP tests, or in the case of schools with declining scores, when the percentage of "does not meet" equals or is less than the average of the last four years.

When a school is named to the list, it is required by law to submit a school improvement plan to the local board of education and must participate in the state's Quality Assurance review.

"The Academic Early Warning List was created as a way to focus on the need for academic improvement in schools where students are having difficulty reaching desired levels," Mandeville said. "We are very pleased that in the first year of the AEWL implementation, this intention has been successfully addressed."

Mitchell resident uses funny money

(Some information for this story was provided by The Telegraph.)

The man admitted he had made the bill on his computer about four months ago and had been keeping it in his wallet. He said he hadn't realized he had used it to pay for the items at the Han-Dee Mart until he got home that evening.

The man returned to the convenience store, paid them the $10 with real currency, then reported the incident to police. He told investigators he had made only the one phony bill.

Warriors upset by Alton

Bob Emig

Atmosphere for CHS-EHS grid game was special

The setting Friday night at the high school football game at the Edwardsville Sports Complex was like something out of Norman Rockwell's gallery.

An overflow crowd of nearly 6,000 people was alive, the Edwardsville band was playing, the cheerleaders were cheering, and the players and coaches were pumped for a championship game.

Perennial power Edwardsville and upstart Collinsville entered the game with identical 3-0 records, bringing a playoff atmosphere to a game which determined the Southwestern Conference championship.

The Tigers won the no-nonsense 7-6 contest that lasted less than two hours. Only four passes were thrown in the game, and the teams were whittled for just two penalties.

Both squads demonstrated why they are among the top rushing defenses in the Metro East. After Collinsville scored on its first possession of the game, and Edwardsville countered on its next possession, the two teams settled in defensively. After scoring, Collinsville couldn't get any closer to the goal line than Edwardsville's 13-yard line — and that was when Steve Ballinger fought and weaved his way for a 34-yard run on the last play of the first half.

After rushing for 138 yards in the first half, the Kahoks only mustered 54 yards rushing in the second half. Their four possessions in the second half started on their own 38-yard line, their own 25, their own 20 and their own 26. Not what you would call ideal field position.

The closest the Kahoks came to Edwardsville's goal line in the second half was on their last play of the game when Ballinger was stopped a yard short of a first down on fourth-and-7 at the Edwardsville 42.

Edwardsville, for its part, bent but couldn't break the Kahoks defense. The Tigers missed a golden opportunity in the first half when they took over on Collinsville's 13-yard line after Derrick Appel blocked Kory Kimbrell's punt. But the Tigers only moved as far as Collinsville's 11-yard line before quarterback Matt Allaria's only pass of the game fell incomplete.

Edwardsville came out on its first possession of the second half and marched 65 yards to Collinsville's 29-yard line before failing to convert on a third-and-5 running play. The Tigers got to Collinsville's 28-yard line midway through the fourth period before being stopped on fourth-and-5.

"You saw two of the better defenses on the field tonight," said Edwardsville coach Tim Kane, whose team posted its third perfect regular season in the last four years. "We had to win the game anyway we could tonight, and that was on defense."

Collinsville coach Tim Kane was his usual stoic self, praising both teams after the game. Although only in his second season at Collinsville, he appreciates the intense rivalry between the two schools.

"I could see it in basketball and also baseball last season," he said. "Now, I saw it in football."

As much as the game itself, the talk centered around the crowd, estimated at nearly 7,000. It is the largest home crowd ever to watch an Edwardsville High football game, and that includes any playoff game the Tigers have been involved in.

Collinsville quarterback Derek LeMaster epitomized the feelings of most players. "It was unbelievable," he said. "It was our hardest-hitting game of the season. It was really physical out there."

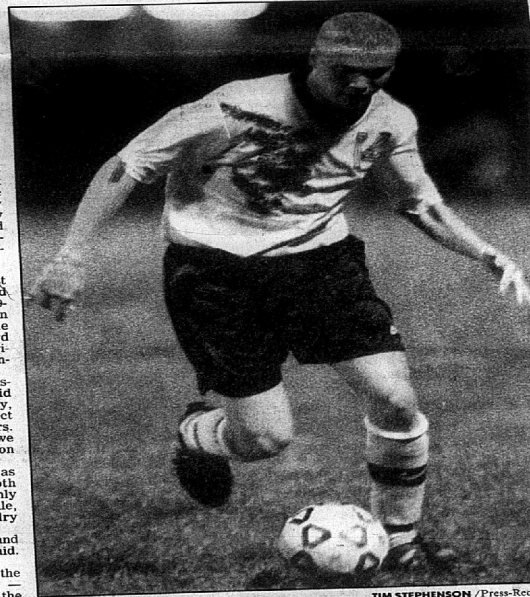

LeMaster, obviously not liking the result, still took the loss in stride. "We wanted the conference championship, of course, but we have to move on (to the playoffs)," he said. Derek's father, Gary, a 1972 Collinsville High graduate and former Kahoks football player, has suffered over the years with many other Kahoks fans. He's enjoying this season as much as the next purple bleed-off.

"It's been a lot of fun (this season)," said the elder LeMaster, a former football coach at Metro East Lutheran in Edwardsville. "All the hard work the boys put in the off-season has paid off."

Laird caps career by helping Warriors improve

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

A 3-6 record is not causing despondency in the ranks of Granite City's football program.

Actually, the players and coaches were pleased with the team's development through the last half of season and look forward to better things next season.

The seniors will, unfortunately, be gone by then. And one of the key members of that class is Joe Laird. "I started at linebacker this year, but they moved me to tackle because of an ankle injury I had," Laird said. "My lateral movement was pretty bad so I played mostly defensive tackle and light end."

"I was the tackle on the left side and Mike Simpson was my end. We had a little dynamic duo thing going there on that side. A couple of ball games we were pretty solid, where anytime they came to our side, we were just nailing them."

"When Tony Komoromi came back from his injury in midseason, he stepped up at middle guard and did a really good job. So did Anthony Rando. He held that right side together, because we had some younger guys around him, like Tim Dawes, and he kept them straight and kept that right side going."

"I was really impressed, because our offensive line was basically either juniors or sophomores, and it's really impressive to see them do so well. And Mike Simpson, once he got his confidence going, was great. We always talked and early in the season, he was worried that he was going to drop (a pass), and when he thought he was going to drop it, he did it. I told him not to think about it, because if he doesn't worry about it, he'll catch it. And Zack May started to throw rather well, our line started to block tremendously, and we were able to punch those through that we hadn't been able to at the beginning of the season."

A lot of our improvement in the middle of the season came from the juniors. They really wanted to play and they stepped it up this season, which really helped our senior class. A 14-0 loss to undefeated Southwestern Conference champion Edwardsville was maybe the closest Granite City came to realizing its potential.

Redbirds oust Granite City in penalty kicks

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

It's not surprising that a team needed to go to penalty kicks to oust Granite City from the IHSA Class AA soccer tournament.

BOYS SOCCER

The who and when, however, are shocking. Alton edged Granite City 3-2 in the Tuesday night regional semifinal round, which also was the Warriors' first playoff game after earning the No. 1 seed for the 10-team sectional.

The Redbirds, who had been pounded 7-0 by Granite City earlier this season during their winless run through the Southwestern Conference, managed to forge a 2-2 tie in regulation and through a scoreless overtime.

While Granite missed one penalty kick, Alton's Nick Williams converted his team's fifth successful penalty kick to clinch the victory.

"Obviously, we were very disappointed," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "To put things into perspective, this high school sport is still a successful season for so many of them to finish 12-6-4, in a year in which they were counted out early. Winning the conference was a high note. We certainly expected to go farther than we did, but we are capable of this kind of game, and this can happen in soccer, where you outshoot them, outplay them, but you still have to put them away, and we didn't."

"Not to slight Alton, they played with some enthusiasm."

End comes early for GCHS soccer
Warriors must now look to next year

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

The end of the high school soccer season came a little bit sooner than the Granite City players and fans expected.

The Warriors were the No. 1 seed for the sectional tournament but lost their playoff opener, 3-2 on penalty kicks to Alton on Tuesday night.

"You always try to look at the overall positive atmosphere of the season and try to take away the good and forget the bad," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "I hope the young men can do that. I think they are much more resilient than people realize. I think they can bounce back more easily than adults can. They have much of which to be proud. It's a game where you don't advance on penalty kicks. That has not been our standard."

"I don't know what to think," Granite City senior Corey Winfield said. "We had our bad breaks and they had theirs. I think their two goals could have been avoided, but I'm sure they think our two goals could have been avoided."

"I thought we played all right," said Andy Ronk, who scored one of Granite City's two goals. "We had a lot of chances to score, especially in the second half, and we just couldn't put any away. In the second half and overtime, they didn't get many shots or hardly any chances. I thought we controlled it. In the first half, people stopped marking. That's how we gave up our goals."

Alton scored its two goals late in the first half to claim a 2-1 lead.

"There are times that we call shut-downs, where they might elect not to make an effort on a given play and just kind of hope," Baker said. "There are times at which it seems to be the nature of our youth press-entirely to try hard and then not at all in these peaks and valleys. That's part of high school sports."

"From a motivation standpoint, our kids have to have some burning goals — both short-term and long-term — and a desire to fulfill them, and frankly some of the players possessed that and some did not. For those who did it was a super successful season, as you'll see by some of their credits and plaques."

The Warriors now must look ahead to the 1999 season. But they can do so with a smile as the program looks to continue its tradition of excellence.

"We have a dozen good players coming back next year," Baker said. "People like Margabe, Brandon Williams, Corey Williams, Steve Hendrickson and others. We're going to try to place them into a college, because that's the way we've done it here. My idea is to develop good players that can go on to complement their education through soccer, and I think we can do that for some of them because they can help various teams, depending on the level. But I think some of them are awfully fine young men, so I'm certainly going to work hard for them."

"I would definitely say that the offseason is important. ... And in the summer you have to lift or you aren't going to get anywhere."

Joe Laird
Granite City senior

"They're an outstanding team and we really came to play," Laird said. "A lot of people were expecting it to be 34-0 or 44-0, but we came in and our defense was pretty solid. Our offense was doing really well, but we couldn't punch the last one through. But it was a solid ballgame, especially considering the way we played them last year."

SPORTS

•Laird

Laird enjoyed his high school football career, even though the Warriors' record was not gaudy.

"It's good for a lot of things," Laird said. "Like weightlifting, getting your body toned, getting some exercise so you're not just sitting there watching TV all day. It takes a lot of discipline. It really helps kids get off the street and gives them a sport to play and keeps them from doing bad things."

"Hopefully, Coach (Nick) Petrillo can help me get a scholarship to some college. I'm still looking to play football at a (NCAA) Division II or III school."

"Joe Laird, for a man his size — both in height and weight — has really good agility," Petrillo said. "He's very quick and he has the potential, if he really wanted to play football at another level, if he was willing to make that commitment, he has the tools to do something at a higher level."

Like the rest of the players on this year's team, Laird warns next year's varsity to train hard before the season starts if they expect to have success.

"I would definitely say that the offseason is important," Laird said. "Like this year, I had track and basketball and I couldn't really hit the weight room, so I said I can do it in the summer. And then once you get to the summer every now and then you say, 'Yeah, I'll do a little lifting.' I'd say wait a week or two after football to try and get your motivation going and then start lifting."

"Personally, I would recommend doing another sport, like wrestling or track, you can throw the discs or something. It will keep you lifting weights, keep your stamina up. And in the summer you have to lift or you aren't going to get anywhere."

Granite City played well early and scored first when leading scorer Dave Margrabe blocked Dave Beck's goal kick and booted in the goal.

"It was so typical of the way we've played," Baker said. "In the first ten minutes we were awesome. And then it was nap-time."

While Granite City slept, Alton scored.

In the last minutes of the first half, Granite City keeper Brandon Williams made a save off a deflected corner kick but Alton's Williams knocked in the rebound.

Minutes later, Tony Henkhaus collected a loose ball in the Warriors box and scored to give Alton a 2-1 halftime lead.

The Warriors got the equalizer off the head of Andy Ronk, from a pass by Winfield.

"We had a dead ball, which was pretty much a corner kick. It was right there," Ronk said. "We set up a near post wall and Corey played it in. It went right to my head and I just placed it in the near post."

Neither team converted in overtime and penalty kicks ensued. Baker used all three of his goals — Williams, Justin Rohr and Jamie Gavitsky — but none was able to stop any of Alton's well-placed shots. Nathan Nichols, Mike Smith and Ronk scored for the Warriors, but Margrabe's shot was deflected wide.

"Our track record has been quite good in penalty kicks,"

Gary LeMaster likes the Kahoks' approach to the game. He said they go about their game in a business-like approach, a reflection of their head coach.

"He keeps the boys on an even keel," Gary LeMaster said about Kane.

You can't say the same thing about the Kahoks football fans, who are coming out of the closet to enjoy this season.

"I've seen some people at the games who I haven't seen in years," Gary LeMaster said.

Spooks, spirits and other Halloween fixtures have come to roost in Granite City. Two houses, Ginger and Glenn Freeman's home at 3627 Highway 162, and Dennis Russell's, at 2439 Iowa, are great examples of Granite City residents going all out for Halloween. Although some of it looks gruesome, it's all harmless fun.

Community mourns 2 teens

VENICE — The Venice School District said goodbye Monday to two students killed Saturday in Granite City. Lori Juan M. Mathis, 17, and Christina Hocking, 15, died at the scene of a two-car crash early Saturday at St. Thomas Road and Illinois 3. They were returning from a church-related event.

The students' friends were members of Trinity Tabernacle in Madison. Special services were held there Sunday morning in remembrance of Mathis and Hocking.

According to Granite City police reports, the crash occurred at approximately 3 a.m. Saturday morning. The church van's driver, Joan L. Brown of Granite City, had just dropped off a passenger at a house on St. Thomas.

Police said after stopping, Brown pulled into the path of a northbound car, driven by Steven W. Harp of Alton, while attempting to reach the southbound lanes. Mathis and Hocking were thrown from the van. According to police reports, they were not wearing their seat belts.

Another passenger, Valencia Thomas, 15, of Madison suffered broken bones. She was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment. Brown also was injured. She was treated at SEMC and released.

Police rescued Harp from his burning car. His leg was broken. After EMTs took him to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, he was transferred to St. Louis University Medical Center. Police said Harp was tested for alcohol. The results won't be available for two weeks.

Officer Funeral Home in East St. Louis is handling the arrangements for Mathis. Call 271-8055 for visitation and service times and locations.

Thomas Funeral Home is handling the arrangements for Hocking. Call 876-4321 for visitation and service times and locations.

City approves annexation deal

MADISON — At a special meeting Friday afternoon, the Madison City Council approved the Chouteau Island annexation agreement.

The agreement — which would settle the question of annexation on not only the island but the Tri-City Port District and federal properties east of the Chain of Rocks Canal — is awaiting approval by the Venice and Granite City city councils. The Madison County Board approved it last week. Venice was expected to consider the agreement at Tuesday's Council meeting. It was uncertain when Granite City would deal with it.

There are only two major changes from the original agreement. First, the reimbursement of Madison's attorneys fees — estimated at $50,000 — would be subject to negotiation.

Second, eight county-owned properties on the island, originally part of the Federal Emergency Management Agency flood buyouts, would remain the property of the county but would be annexed by Madison.

District turns down YMCA Board's request

GRANITE CITY — The YMCA Board and the Granite City School Board agree that the corner of Fehling and Nameoki roads is a prime location, but the district declined to lease the property for now.

The YMCA Board proposed leasing the land — an otherwise empty field adjacent to Coolidge Middle School used for athletic practice — from the district to build a $4 million, 50,000-square-foot facility. District officials, however, declined for the time being, and instead offered land by the old Nameoki school on Pontoon Road.

Although the YMCA Board was grateful for the offer of the Nameoki school site, it fails to meet a primary YMCA Board criteria, a commercial location close to schools.

Chief: Officer will protect kids from outside influences

GRANITE CITY — A full-time police officer soon will take up residence in Granite City High School but not because of problems with students.

Police Chief David Ruebhausen said the officer is not needed because behavior and violence is bad at the high school but rather to protect students from bad influences outside of the school.

"I don't want the public to perceive my request to put a policeman in the high school as a remedy to a problem," Ruebhausen said. "Mr. (William) Rotter and his staff have been an outstanding job. The school board for the last several years has adopted a zero-tolerance policy toward violence, weapons, drugs."

"I consider campus safe now," he said. "I think they do an outstanding job policing the students."

The Granite City Council approved funding Oct. 20 for the school for one year, subject to approval and renewal of funds each year, Ruebhausen said. The department also is searching for grant money to help pay for the officer.

The city will pay approximately $18,000 of the $55,000 costs for the officer, who will start Nov. 2. The school district will pay the rest.

Site gets $4 million boost

NEAR HARTFORD — On Oct. 21, U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, along with Lewis and Clark Society President George Arnold, announced that the recently passed federal budget includes $4 million for a new interpretive center at the confluence of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers.

The federal money will be matched to the $3 million in state funds Gov. Jim Edgar helped secure with the assistance of state Reps. Tom Holbrook and Steve Davis and State Sen. Evelyn Bowles. Edgar announced additional funding in February at the site.

Arnold's organization, which wants a more fitting tribute built in time for the 200th anniversary of the expedition, was grateful for the congressman's and others' support. The center would be located next to Illinois 3 on the dry side of the Mississippi River levee.

Payment crackdown generates utility alternatives, concern

MADISON — Madison Building Inspector George Hlava said the city will be cracking down on people living in homes without utilities.

At a recent meeting, Hlava told the City Council that Illinois power recently has been turning off utilities for non-payment, forcing residents to find other sources of electricity.

In one case, a family of four in the First Ward with out-standings power bills of more than $3,200 was operating a gas-powered generator on the back porch and running multiple extension cords into the house.

Hlava said one of the cords was running through the kitchen and under metal chairs, creating the possibility of fire if the cord was damaged.

"There are probably another 30 or 40 cases in the city where the utilities have been turned off," he said.

In potentially life-threatening cases, he said residents could receive multiple citations.

During discussion, Mayor John Hamm said that in addition to whatever the city does in those cases, the defendants should be referred to 4th Ward Alderman Roshelle Williams' community development's energy assistance program.

The program's registration for the elderly, disabled and those who already have been disconnected began Oct. 1. Others will be able to register beginning Nov. 1.

'Blithe Spirit' at Playhouse

Comedy opens
Nov. 12 at Lebanon theater

On Nov. 12, the Looking Glass Playhouse in Lebanon opens its second production of its silver anniversary season with performances of "Blithe Spirit."

This comedy classic recounts the adventures and misadventures of a man and his wife who find themselves being haunted by a ghost—not just any ghost, but the ghost of his deceased wife.

Eight performances of the play are scheduled: on Nov. 12, 13, 14, 15, 19, 20, 21 and 22.

The next production scheduled for the Looking Glass Playhouse is "A Christmas Carol," which opens Dec. 12.

In February, the company will present "The Seven Year Itch."

Cast members for the Looking Glass Playhouse come from all walks of life and are residents of St. Clair, Madison and Clinton counties.

For more information concerning this production, directions to the theater, show times, and audition information, contact the LGP ticket reservation office at 537-4962.

Vampires meet American Southwest

New John Carpenter movie combines two genres

"I've always wanted to do a vampire movie," says John Carpenter, director of the new "John Carpenter's Vampires."

"This book, 'Vampires,' came along and it really did some things I'd never seen before. It's set in the American Southwest and has certain western elements to it. I decided this would be the perfect chance to do something different."

Carpenter said his movie, which opens Friday, offers a "dualistic irony of the good guys and the bad guys."

"It has all the classic ideas that you've seen in a vampire movie — the humans versus the vampires, the hidden sexuality, the ideas of blood. All that's at work in this film. But in essence, I've always loved westerns, and one of the reasons I'm doing this movie is that this is the closest I've come to being able to do a western."

The film was shot in northern New Mexico, where the movie company took over a square city block in a small town to build an adobe prison.

"It's about hunting vampires instead of whomever the bad guys of the were in classic western cinema," says actor James Woods, who plays James Crow in the movie. "We have set pieces in this movie that are homages to early works of Howard Hawks and Sam Peckinpah, with the Henry Fondas and John Waynes and William Holdens out braving the ultimate challenge. It's 'The Wild Bunch' meets vampires."

"The vampires slayers are gunslingers, and the vampires are gunslingers in their own way," says Thomas Ian Griffin, the actor who won the plum role of master vampire Valek.

It may be hard to envision clashing with slayers in a western setting, but James Woods' description of a scene helps bring the idea into focus: "Daniel Baldwin and I come into the town of Santiago on a wide, open street," Woods says. "There's nobody around, but there are signs that somebody was there. It's quiet. We take out our guns and look around. I signal him. He signals back to cover me when I go into this little bar."

"There's about a minute or so where the tension reads that our characters are going to be slaughtered right there. All of the sudden, we realize it was Rio Bravo."

Jack Crow (James Woods, center) leads members of Team Crow, a contingent of mercenaries sent by the Vatican to destroy a nest of vampires, in "John Carpenter's Vampires."

Filmmaker has had varied career

Filmmaker John Carpenter — who has brought audiences thrills and chills in 18 memorable motion pictures — now puts his unmistakable imprint on the mythology of vampirism in "John Carpenter's Vampires."

It is a subject matter the famed director has long wanted to bring to the screen.

Carpenter, an esteemed graduate of the University of Southern California Film School who has pioneered new directions for Hollywood over the past quarter century, personally helped return the horror genre to box office prominence with the smash success of his "Halloween" in 1978.

After winning an Academy Award for his 1970 short subject "The Resurrection of Bronco Billy," Carpenter directed a series of low-budget highly commercial and critically acclaimed movies, including "Dark Star," "Assault on Precinct 13" and "Halloween."

Following "Halloween," he established his reputation further with such genre hits as "The Fog," "John Carpenter's They Live," "Prince of Darkness" and "Christine."

At left, James Woods, playing Jack Crow, holds a symbol of the cross during a battle with vampires in "John Carpenter's Vampires." The scene is set in rural New Mexico just before the end of the 21st century. At right, Valek, a 600-year-old vampire played by Thomas Ian Griffith, prepares to sink his teeth into the flesh of Katrina (Sheryl Lee), a beautiful prostitute, before turning his wrath on Team Crow.

'Pleasantville' an inconsistent effort

Film is funny, but melodramatic

By Chris Waldvogel
Staff writer

Two eras brought together should produce an entertaining clash.

Plenty of opportunities exist for stabs at shortcomings in each time period. Interaction between characters would reveal vastly different lingo, knowledge and attitudes.

"Pleasantville," the first film from director Gary Ross, who also wrote "Big" and "Dave," offers that opportunity. Ross seems to have the fish out of water thing down pat, but his tale of two modern kids who end up in a fictitious '50s TV show is a muddled, inconsistent attempt.

Sometimes funny, witty and insightful, the spotty script also is boring, melodramatic and contrived. The movie emulates a vanilla sheen, the exact problem of the shows it satirizes.

But a dream cast of underappreciated actors — J.T. Walsh, William H. Macy, Jeff Daniels, Joan Allen, Reese Witherspoon and Toby Maguire — make the movie a "pleasant" experience.

The juxtaposition begins when geek David (Maguire) and wild child Jennifer (Witherspoon) fight over and break the family remote. When a mysterious repairman (Don Knotts) gives the siblings a new remote, they find themselves magically transported into their TV and on the set of the "Pleasantville" show. They have taken the place of Bud and Mary Sue, the wholesome children of George (Macy) and Betty (Allen).

The pair find themselves in a '50s utopia: their first breakfast features huge stacks of food; all the neighbors are frighteningly polite; the high school basketball players never miss a shot; the weather features a high of 72, a low of 72, and not a cloud in the sky; and a man can always count on an agreeable wife to take care of his every need.

But the utopia also lacks toilets, rain, sex, art and color.

It's a reality based entirely on innocence. While the two kids struggle to fit into this seemingly perfect life, they begin to change the world around them.

"Pleasantville" follows the journey of each character as they discover individual passions. Bud's boss at the local restaurant (Daniels) begins to paint; Betty explores her sexual desire; David, a loser when it comes to women, becomes the poster boy for chivalry; even Jennifer, the girl who began the change with her insatiable appetite for sex, finds a new world in books and learning.

Although some of the transformations seem phony, many of the film's best moments come during this turbulent period. One night, George comes home to an empty house, goes through his routine of hanging his hat and saying "honey, I'm home." When he gets no answer, he repeats the action. In this world, everything is a safe and predictable routine. There is no danger, no sorrow, no disappointment.

But his wife is not there.

The film triumphs through the hard work of the actors. Macy gives an award-winning performance as an innocent traditionalist who falls to pieces without his wife.

Members of the Preservation Hall Jazz Band will bring New Orleans' musical heritage to the SIUE stage.

Preservation Jazz Band to appear at SIUE

Everyone ought to experience the New Orleans' musical heritage and the Preservation Hall Jazz Band from New Orleans is just the group to provide it.

The band will perform at 4 p.m. Nov. 8 in Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville's Meridian Ballroom as part of the Arts and Issues series, now in its 14th year. The event is co-sponsored by radio station WSIE-FM and TheBANK of Edwardsville.

The Preservation Hall musicians have kept alive the tradition of the pre-Dixieland Jazz sound for more than 50 years. No band plays the "happy music" better, and that love for the style and its spirit continues to make the group a favorite.

"We are extremely pleased to provide what promises to be a remarkable Sunday afternoon of great musical entertainment," said Richard Walker, coordinator of the Arts and Issues series. Tickets are $14, $7 for students with valid identification, and are available at SIUE's Union Station ticket office; call 650-2320 or write to Arts and Issues, SIUE, Edwardsville, 62026-1083. Admission includes free parking in the attendant lot behind the Morris University Center.

Film festival to begin

New movies from around the world to be featured

By Dan Yount
Staff writer

The seventh annual St. Louis International Film Festival will begin today and continue through Nov. 8 at selected area theaters.

More than 124 new films from 22 countries will be shown, and 45 filmmakers will visit the area in conjunction with the festival. There also will be workshops, panel discussions, viewings of special documentaries and other events.

The festival has grown since its inauguration in 1992 to become a major showcase of the world's best independent films and filmmakers, said Mary Strauss, president of the festival's board of directors.

The theme of this year's festival, "We've Got the World on a Reel," reflects that people in the St. Louis area will be the first to see the best of the new films from around the world, Strauss said.

"We have something for everyone," she said.

Children ages 8 through 12 can register at their schools for a showing of "Colors Straight Up" and participate in a filmmaking workshop Nov. 7 at New City School, 5209 Waterman Ave. in the Central West End, Strauss said.

There also will be programs for seniors, she said.

Films ranging from perhaps the most controversial movie of the year — Todd Solonzo's "Happiness" — to the restored 1968 classic "Young Girls of Rochefort" will be shown, she said.

"There are films from one end of the spectrum to the other," Strauss said.

Timothy Hutton, who made his directorial debut with "Digging to China," and Adam Arkin, star of "With Friends Like These," will introduce their films at a grand opening kickoff Thursday at the Tivoli Theatre, 6350 Delmar Blvd. in University City.

Other activities will include "Salute to Sinatra" at 5 p.m. Nov. 1 at the Fox Theater, 527 N. Grand Blvd. in St. Louis, (See FESTIVAL, Page 12D)

Late-night comedy not for everyone

Trivia

Kevin Carbery

By Kevin Carbery
Staff writer

It mystifies me why anyone would want to watch Jay Leno over David Letterman.

To me, Letterman is far funnier and more interesting than Leno when comparing monologues, interview techniques and skits on their late-night talk shows. Leno has the edge in booking stars since his show airs from Los Angeles and Letterman is in New York, but, Letterman gets much more out of his guests than Leno does out of his.

With guests, Leno does nothing but lob softball questions at them. Letterman, on the other hand, often pursues topics that his subjects may not like, but, are entertaining to the audience.

Here is the big difference between the two to me. For Leno to be worth watching, he needs a guest of the caliber of Robin Williams or Julia Roberts. Conversely, Letterman can even make an appearance by Joan Lunden interesting, which is no easy task.

Conan O'Brien's show is not bad, though, it is overrated. While the program often brings in great musical acts and can provide some laughs, O'Brien is the weakest part of the proceedings. His monologues are lame and his interviews are awkward at best. I find his sidekick, Andy Richter, to be the better comedian of the two. I thought it was a crime that this program was able to survive and the far better one put on by Jon Stewart bit the dust.

I was a little sorry to see

ENTERTAINMENT

HOROSCOPE.

THURSDAY, OCT. 29
The Aquarius moon continues to challenge the sun, Venus and especially Mercury in Scorpio today. Sharing your ideas with others may leave you feeling underappreciated. If you are specific about what kind of input you are wanting to receive, it may waylay any miscommunications that could result. Mars in Virgo will help keep anyone from flying off the handle.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Avoid slacking off now that a project has been completed; you still have work to do. Be firm with a persistent sales man, or you'll end up with a lot of what you don't need. A love interest welcomes your advances.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Your family makes last-minute arrangements for you. Retrace your steps, and you find what you thought you lost. You and a love grow closer after a quarrel. Emphasizing material possessions is dangerous for a love relationship.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You've exhausted the possibilities with a job situation; it's time to move on. Contact old friends for luck in love — you'll get new information or be set up on a hot date. A family member may subtly pressure you.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You'll have plenty of opportunity to prove yourself on the job. A friend offers you money in return for a favor. Help prepare a co-worker for a public appearance today. You discuss love-life developments with a close friend.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Your enthusiasm lights up your surroundings. A loved one makes a public demonstration of admiration — it's embarrassing, but it's wonderful to be appreciated. Your rigorous schedule could stand to be modified a bit.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 29). You have amazing abilities and are just beginning to learn how to use them. You can evoke emotion, support, true love and excitement from many people this year.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). If you sacrifice for an employer, let him or her know, or it's taken for granted. Money from a loan repaid, or past work funds, arrive in the mail. Financially, you turn over a new leaf. Love with a Taurus or Capricorn is favored.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23).
You are willing to devote yourself to the needs of others
but not your own needs.
Examine your feelings of unworthiness, and you can better your life. A strong

internal shift is what's needed to set you free.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Your creative talent and a friend's business expertise work together. Good ideas make it through no matter the odds. It's not a good day for financial risks. Social contacts open up a new romantic possibility.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Exercise caution over your finances; impulsive spending could land you in a tight spot. A love interest becomes more attractive all the time — just make the move. Detach yourself from problems that are not yours to solve.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). A small but satisfying victory on the job is the beginning of a lucky streak. Colleagues insist that you lead or represent them in some way. Balance your job duties and social life; one area may be getting short shrift.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Acting swiftly is quite lucky now — your intuition won't steer you wrong. Once you discover someone's true feelings, don't waste time getting into decision mode. Save as much of a paycheck as possible.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Do what you must to get a good deal — financial wrangling won't make you look bad. You seem to hit on a solution by accident. Peers and co-workers clamor to learn your secrets. Love with someone older is passionate.

with the Gateway City Big Band performing and screenings of the films "On the Town" and "Oceans 11." Guests are encouraged to dress in 1960s "martini attire."

Four films about Jewish living and the Holocaust will be shown at the Kirkwood Cinema, 338 S. Kirkwood Road, Strauss said. The presentation is titled "Judaic Voices."

"Central Station," an award-winning film from Brazil, and "Dancing at Lughnasa," Meryl Streep's new movie, also will be shown at various theaters as part of the festival, she said.

Ossie David, Ruby Dee and leading African-American film historians will lead a panel discussion Nov. 6 for the showing of "A Separate Cinema" at the Grandel Theatre, 634 N. Grand. The documentary chronicles 50 years of films — from 1915 to 1965 — made specifically for African-American audiences and featuring all-black casts, Strauss said.

This year, the Tivoli Theatre will serve as the festival headquarters, Strauss said. Other venues will include the Kirkwood Cinema; Plaza Frontenac Cinema, Clayton Road and Lindbergh Boulevard; the St. Louis Art Museum in Forest Park; the Fox Theatre; the Vaughn Cultural Center, 3701 Grandel Square; and Grandel Theatre.

Tickets to attend several screenings may be purchased at a savings of 15 percent, Strauss said. Tickets to five film presentations may be purchased for $30; 10 presentations, $60; 15 presentations, $90; and 20 presentations, $120.

Tickets to see multiple films are available at the Fox Theatre and the St. Louis Symphony Community Music School, 560 Trinity Ave. in University City. They may also be obtained by calling MetroTix at 534-1111.
